GENESIS AND GEOLOGY; or an Investigation into the Reconciliation of the Modern Doctrines of Geology; with the Declarations of Scripture. By Denis Crofton, B.A. 2s.

"I have taken the responsibility of recommending to the enterprising publishers, whose names appear on the title page, to republish this little work, in its present form, and thus to place it within reach of American Christians, for the following reasons:—First, because I have met with no examination of the connection between 'Geology and Genesis,' so able as this. Other eminent writers, such as Dr. Chalmers, J. Pye Smith, Harris, Buckland, Silliman, Sedgwick and Whewell, have shown great skill in the examination of the Biblical questions connected with geology, but none of them have gone so fully into the argument as Mr.

Crofton. Second, because he has opened a track which may be followed further by Biblical students. I mean in the examination of parallel passages of inspiration. Finally, because his course of argument is eminently adapted to satisfy the authorized exponents of God's Word—I mean the Ministers of the Gospel—that there is no collision between 'Genesis and Geology.' Mr. Crofton has made one or two favourable allusions to an earlier production of mine on this same subject, but I cannot suppose that any one will consider so slight a reference to be a reason why I should have formed a high opinion of his work, or why I should not express it.

"Edward Hitchcock, D.D."
